The diagram illustrates two different traffic sign configurations for a road intersection, separated by a diagonal line labeled "ROAD".

Top Scenario (30' WIDE ROAD):

- A vertical red sign on the left side of the road contains the white text "A-109".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-110".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-111".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-112".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-113".

Bottom Scenario (26' WIDE ROAD):

- A vertical red sign on the left side of the road contains the white text "A-373".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-374".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-375".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-376".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-377".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-378".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-379".
- A horizontal blue sign above the road contains the white text "A-380".

Diagram D shows a yellow triangular area divided into three horizontal sections. The top section is labeled 'A-387', the middle section is labeled 'A-387', and the bottom section is labeled 'A-388'. To the left of the triangle is a vertical line labeled '25' WIDE ROAD'. To the right of the triangle is a diagonal line labeled 'ROAD'.
